

Catherine Truman Architects

Catherine Truman Architects is focused on creating timeless architecture through the renovation of existing buildings and the creation of new ones. They believe that good architecture is independent of style and their work encompasses both classic and modern design. Their designs are unified by clarity and simplicity of form and function. Their work frequently involves layering old and new, as in the featured project, in which a modern stair is inserted into an antique barn. The architects at CTA believe that the best solutions are the result of close collaboration between owner, architect, and builder, and that as a result, no two projects will be the same. Project types range from new homes to small interior renovations and are located in both urban and rural environments.
